

Please join us for a Late Breaking Session at the AAA/CASCA Annual Meeting in Vancouver, BC:

“In the Same Room: A Subfield Conversation on Best Practice
Planning to Change Institutional Climates on Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment”

Thursday November 21

10:15 am - 12 pm

Location: Vancouver CC WEST, Ballroom B

Participants:

Dana Bardolph (Northern Illinois University)

Kersten Bergstrom (Texas A&M)

Jason de León (UCLA)

Robin Nelson (Santa Clara University)

Mark Schuller (Northern Illinois University)

Sarah Rowe (University of Texas, Rio Grande)

M. Gabriela Torres (Wheaton College)

Elizabeth Wirtz (Purdue University)

This Late Breaking Session brings together a range of practicing students and professionals from different subfields of anthropology and AAA members of other professional organizations (AAPA, SfAA, and SAA, including the SAA Task Force on Sexual and Anti-Harassment Policies and Procedures) to discuss policies, strategies, and action items developed by these respective organizations, focusing in particular on the problem solving and practice planning that has emerged in response to the events of the 2019 SAA meeting. Our goals are to open a dialogue on sexual harassment and sexual violence prevention through a discussion of best practices (or changes to prevailing practices); to provide a space for colleagues of various subdisciplines to network; and to continue the conversation throughout and beyond the conference itself. Roundtable participants will respond to a short series of questions as well as engage in open dialogue with audience participants.

Join our conversation!

For more information please contact organizer Dana Bardolph (dbardolph@niu.edu)